 WE'RE LOVING...

Velvet luxe

Bye-bye boring beige and outdated upholstery – the current trend of using sumptuous fabrics in rich jewel tones in the home seems here to stay. Coricraft's new Maurice velvet fabric is luxuriously soft and available in a range of colours, like red, green and blue, to use on its couches, chairs, barstools, ottomans and even beds and headboards. Pair it with the brand's recently launched Haskell chair range, from R6 999, and you will have a modern-retro statement piece that's both comfortable and stylish. Win-win!

HAND-CRAFTED RUGS
 Textile design studio The Ninevites sources mohair from the Eastern Cape and sheep wool from Lima, Peru, to hand-weave luxurious rugs. With designs inspired by traditional patterns in African craftwork and art, the rugs will look – and feel – beautiful in any living space. See theninevites.net

Keep cut flowers fresh by adding a teaspoon of sugar to the water to help feed blooms, and a drop of bleach to keep bacteria at bay.

WHAT'S NEW

STARRY, STARRY NIGHT

Inspired by the night sky, Love Milo's new range, Winter Alchemy, combines constellation designs with midnight blue fabrics and burnished brass to add some drama and magic to cold nights indoors. We love the star-print cushions and zodiac mugs – just add a fleecy rug, light a candle and curl up with a good book. Winter at home sorted! See lovemilo.com
